Analysis, policy advice, strategy and spatial planning directs the City's development to meet the current and future needs of communities for good-quality local infrastructure, local public services, and performance of regulatory functions, as required by the Local Government Act 2002. Monitoring and review of the effectiveness of the Council's strategies, policies and plans, and of progress towards the Community Outcomes, allows the Council to adapt and improve its response to key City and community issues.

What outcomes are we trying to achieve?	How do the services contribute to desired outcomes?
Decisions are transparent and informed by timely, accurate and robust information and advice	Policy and planning services provide advice to Council on the key issues facing the city and community. This advice is underpinned by monitoring, research and analysis. This service works across the organisation and with key organisations and stakeholders across the city to <ul> <li>The Council provides leadership on issues affecting the community</li> <li>The Council has effective relationships with central generationships and other low portners.</li> </ul>	promote interagency collaboration. This is particularly so in the long term urban growth planning for the city, particularly through the well established Greater Christchurch Urban Development Strategy partnership.
government and other key partners The opportunities given by the earthquakes to rethink the shape of the city are fully taken	Policy and planning services support these outcomes through the development of strategies, policies and plans in consultation with key agencies. These include clear statements of the goals and objectives to be achieved and the actions and priorities for achieving them. Actions and priorities are shared with the community as part of the Council's annual and long-term planning processes.
<ul> <li>The central city is a vibrant and prosperous business centre</li> <li>More people, including families, live in the central city</li> </ul>	Post-earthquake preparation of policies, plans and advice provides opportunities to look in different ways at where and how the City is re-built and developed.
<ul> <li>The city has a distinctive character and identity</li> <li>The central city is used by a wide range of people and for an increasing range of activities</li> </ul>	The central city policy and planning service provides a key role in providing advice on, and planning for, the actions required to strengthen the central city and achieve these outcomes. In addition to the traditional Central City focus the Council has an ongoing programme to support suburban recovery across the city.

This activity also contributes to the achievement of other community outcomes by providing advice on the strategies and actions needed to achieve desired outcomes, and working with central government, partner agencies, residents, businesses and other stakeholders to promote and support action consistent with these outcomes.

Which group or section of the community will benefit from this activity?:

The Council's strategic partners including CERA, CCDU other government agencies, its UDS partners, the CDHB, and Te Runanga o Ngai Tahu. Developers, property owners, businesses and residents throughout the city, visitors, and the community as a whole.

The annual review of this work programme enables Council to target its strategy, policy and planning resources towards priority City and community issues. The 85% target recognises that the need to respond to emerging issues will, on occasion, demand the reprioritisation of work. Equivalent levels of service for the Urban Development Strategy from the 2009 LTCCP have been incorporated into 1.0.1.1 and 1.0.1.2. The first three levels of service relate to the overall work programme for this activity. Level of service [1.0.1.4] refers to delivery of the strategic policy and planning component of the work programme. It includes, for example, strategic input into the development of the Long-Term Plan, the review of the Development Contributions Policy and coordination of strategic advice on recovery programmes.
